

DMV TEEN'S PAGE

Slideshow Presentation:

Getting Your Learner's Permit

TURNING SIXTEEN

Yeah, I'm 16. I want my license.
What do I do?

GETTING PERMISSION

First, you need to be sure that mom, dad or your legal guardian will give you permission to get your license.

STUDYING FOR TEST

You should now study the DMV driver's manual to prepare for the learner's permit test.

You can view Connecticut's DMV driver's manual online.

PREPARING FOR YOUR LEARNER'S PERMIT TEST

Think you're ready to take the learner's permit test?

Find out more about obtaining a learner's permit.

DOCUMENTS NEEDED

Before coming to DMV to take your Learner's Permit Test, be sure you can provide the following:

- Two forms of acceptable identification
- Proof of residence address (i.e. post-marked envelope addressed to you)
- Parental consent (Parent or legal guardian must show driver license or acceptable form of identification).
- $6 for Learner's Permit Test fee

GOING TO DMV

With documents in hand, head on down to your local DMV full-service office with your parent or legal guardian.

NOTE:

You do not need to make an appointment for the learner's permit test.

LICENSING AREA AT DMV

At the licensing counter you need to show your documents and you will then be given an application to complete.

REMEMBER:

Your parent or legal guardian MUST be present to provide the parental consent. Let them know they must ALSO provide a driver's license and/or some form of acceptable identification.

REQUIRED VISION EXAM

Prior to taking the actual learner's permit test you will be required to take and pass a vision exam.

NOTE:

If you wear eyeglasses or contacts, you will need to bring them.

TAKING THE LEARNER'S PERMIT TEST

You will be given a 10 question written test.

NOTE:

If you DO NOT pass, you can come back the next business day.

You are required to again bring your documents, have your parent or legal guardian with you and pay the $6 test fee.

BE CAREFUL!

You can ONLY get two wrong.

YOU PASSED YOUR PERMIT TEST!

Now you get your learner's permit!

A DMV employee will issue your learner's permit and provide you with guidelines for its use.

- You MUST carry your learner's permit with you at all times while driving
- You can only operate a motor vehicle with a qualified instructor.
- You cannot drive on the highway for the first 60 days after you get your learner's permit

CONGRATULATIONS!

Your learner's permit is valid within Connecticut, but...

You should be aware that each state has its own requirements for driving with a learner's permit and the Connecticut permit may not be legal in other states.

